

2.1. ii. Preadmission counselling:

Pre-admission counselling in the college is conducted to guide students in making informed academic choices. During this process, faculty members help applicants understand different courses, career paths, eligibility criteria, and the admission procedure. Students are also informed about campus facilities, scholarships, and future opportunities. This counselling ensures that every student enters the college with clarity, confidence, and the right direction for their educational journey.

